B.C.'s Best Hop Customer, But Shut Out of Market Here

"Most of the British Columbia hop crop is purchased by Quebec brewers; yet the product of this 'best customer' is denied the British Columbia market."

Why is it that English ale is offered for sale in government liquor stores yet the ale brewed from Valley hops cannot be bought here? That is a question Liquor Board Chairman W. F. Kennedy was asked by the Abbotsford Board of Trade. Here is his reply:

"I am in receipt of your favor of the 26th instant with reference to the product of the National Breweries, Ltd., Montreal, and for your information I may say that this is a matter to which I have given considerable attention in the past, and it is my hope that in the not too distant future we may be able to make some arrangement satisfactory to this firm."

W. F. KENNEDY, Chairman
B. C. Liquor Control Board

Good Canadian Ale

Men who have tasted it declare Quebec ale is good ale — as good as the best imported ale (as if quality is any consideration of the provincial liquor authorities!) One Montreal firm alone bought more than one-half the B.C. hop crop this year—800,000-lbs.—to make this ale. The price paid was 27c-30c a pound. (Compare to the ruination price in U.S. of 7c-10c). For several years past this one firm has been a valued customer of Fraser Valley hop growers. Is it not time that our government liquor buyer abandoned "considerable attention" for some considerable action, was a query put at Monday's meeting of the Trade Board.

That the Montreal brewers feel they are not being fairly dealt with is evident by the following letter from the president of the National Breweries:

"Interest in Canadian — produced products is nothing new on our part because we have always endeavored in every way to help home industries. No doubt you are aware that it was mainly through our efforts that Mr. Loewi and Mr. Haas developed the hop industry in British Columbia to the extent they have. In this connection, you no doubt are aware that we do not endeavor to take advantage of a low market price when buying hops in British Columbia but have always given the grower a fair deal, so that he can make a reasonable profit. (The late Mr. Loewi was affiliated with Canadian Hop Growers' Ltd.)

Also Buy B.C. Fir Vats

We have been gradually increasing the proportion of British Columbia hops which we use in the manufacture of our products, so that today we are using practically double the proportion that we were some years ago. You no doubt can ascertain from the hop growers what percentage of the total crop this is."

Allow me to say that for years we have specified B.C. fir when ordering any vats for our different plants, and that all our important wooden vessels are made of B. C. Fir.

We are glad that your Board is interesting itself in our products, because we consider that we have been very unfairly treated by the British Columbia Liquor Board in their refusing to handle any of our brands. All we asked was that they would place them on sale in their different branches and thus allow them to speak for themselves; this they have persistently refused to do."

"You quite understand that it is not the quantity that we are so much interested in, but we would like, if possible, for any of our friends who wish to purchase our products in British Columbia to be able to do so, especially when they give this privilege to some imported brands."

NORMAN J. DAWES,
Pres. & Man.-Director,
The National Breweries Ltd.
Ale Market Only

Kenneth T. Dawes, vice-pres. of the National Breweries, makes this offer in a letter to a Board of Trade committee:

"If, however, we could get a general distribution of our Black Horse Ale, we would be pleased to sell this without any profit, so that it may be obtained in the Province of British Columbia."

Obviously the firm does not wish to market lager beer here, in competition with the B.C. breweries, but will be content with ale sales.

The Board of Trade committee in charge of this matter, G. H. Heller and L. Caldecott, was delegated to proceed with the agitation in consultation with the local hop-growers.

MATSQUI

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Mercer entertained sixty of their Matsqui and Mission friends at a banquet and dance in Mission Orange hall last week on the occasion of their 23rd wedding anniversary. The supper table was centred with a large three-tiered wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wright and baby have left to reside in Vancouver.

Mrs. Percy Smith is spending some time visiting friends in Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. Giles, who have been living on the "Brown" property on the Harris road, have moved to Langley Prairie.

Samuel Golden, an aged indigent, and Chas. Bartlett (of Glover) were taken to Essendale mental hospital by the Matsqui constable last week.

Three pairs of men's oxfords, one sweater, and a quantity of small articles of clothing were stolen from R. A. Cooper's store, Clayburn village, last week. Entry was effected by the thieves through a window at the rear of the store.

An elongated piece of glass, 1½ inches in length, was taken from the gizzard of a pheasant by Mrs. H. V. Smith last week. Edges of the large glass fragment had been worn quite smooth by muscular action of the bird's organ.

BARKER—WARE

A quiet wedding took place at St. Paul's church, in Vancouver, on November 16, when Miss Eva Ware, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ware, Abbotsford, became the bride of Ernest Courtall (Ray) Barker of Vancouver. The ceremony was performed by Canon King. The young couple, whose honeymoon was spent in Puget Sound cities, will reside in Vancouver.

Local high school pupils held a masquerade dance in the Masonic hall last Friday evening. The event was fairly well attended and many of the students came in colorful costumes. Carmenians orchestra supplied the music. Prizes were won by Kay Stewart and Peggy Brown as Hawaiian girls and Madeline DesMazes as an old-fashioned lady.

Klondike Bad Men Go on Rampage Here Friday

"Sir W. Billy Roberts, governor of Yukon Territory" is chosen to officiate at the Elks Klondike Night frolic in the Orange hall on Friday night and will be trail-breaker at head of the great wheelbarrow and baby-buggy derby in a thrilling race to the hall. As Our Own Genuine Klondiker Billy will give out a few words about the historical gold-rush days before he throws open the doors of the gambling hell, and bids all chechakos welcome.

Two recent entrants to the Great Derby are Man-Mountain Oscar who is to be passenger in the wheelbarrow drawn by Fishpole Gerry. Odds are heavily against this team however, the betting favoring a speed team with Malamute Perce Wilson (handles) and Doc Horace Smith (passenger). The starter of this thrilling struggle will be Sure-Shot Gault, with Draw-First Ketch as referee. First prize is $5,000 (mazuma) and teams that don't finish by morning will each be assessed a round of drinks at the miner's bar.

Lady Godiva to Ride White Horse

In an effort to provide special diversion for mobs of lonely men in the camp, Lady Godiva has consented to repeat her famous ride through the burg upon her white horse. To ensure for the horse an occasional handful of oats, his (or their) identity is disclosed: Sledwhacker Slim Alvin A. Webb (act section); Bouncer Johnny McBeth (stern). Lady Godiva, under the circumstances, does not care to disclose her identity.

A daring holdup circulated phoney mazumas far and wide on Saturday, when Abbotsford merchants bought the currency and gave it away as premiums in their stores. The claim-jumpers will forego any further frisking in that quarter.

Chechakos clamoring for admission to the gambling hell must make peace

Second in a series of whist drives was held by the Catholic Women's League on Friday evening in the Men's Club Hall. First prizes were won by Miss Marie Moret and J. Mahoney, Mrs. Armstrong, Mr. Beebe, consolations. Drawing took place for the upholstered chair, and winning ticket was held by Mrs. W. P. McCormick of Mt. Lehman.

first with Sourdough Rimmer or Stampede Boyce, who will be armed for the occasion. Adults get in for $500 (mazumas) and youngsters a bit less. Those who bought tickets get a chance at the turkey raffle.

Sourdough Rimmer will collect $500 from every Brother Bill who enters the hall without proper regalia (bandie-bar moustaches and a red bandana).

Ticket-sellers get a premium of one ticket in each book, with two prizes ($2000 and $1000) to those selling the most.

Six-Ace Blinch and Trump-Flush Boley have been detailed with five of the most beautiful dance-hall janes of Dawson to skin every chechako with a poke, with especial attention to the Carmenian Dudes, who demand Real Gold for their music.

It'll be lots of novel fun for everybody—get in and help—be a gold-rush millionaire for a night.

Proceeds are for Christmas hampers for the needy. Nuf sed.

Mr. Johnson, who has been operating a farm on Whatcom road near the border, has accepted a charge in Vancouver as pastor of a Mennonite mission.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Anna Ilyinichna Yelizarova-Ulyanova, sister and close collaborator of Nikolai Lenin, died at Moscow at the age of 71.

Joseph Charlebois, artist and cartoonist, well known for his work in La Presse, Montreal, died in hospital here in that city recently.

Regular fall upswings of agricultural exports was reported by the commerce department to have lifted total United States exports 15 per cent. between September and August.

A striking longshoreman was shot to death at Port Arthur and two non-union dock workers were missing after non-union workers and a group of men engaged in hand-to-hand fighting.

The council of the international labor bureau of the League of Nations may designate Canada to occupy the seat in the bureau made vacant by the withdrawal of Germany from the league, it was reported.

Of the 10,579,818 bushels of wheat imported by China in the first four months of 1935, Australia supplied 7,831,836 bushels. Argentina supplied most of the remainder while importations from United States and Canada were negligible.

All premises used as grasshopper poison mixing stations were condemned by the Manitoba government as unsuitable for living quarters for any person. The action was taken as a result of 25 roadworkers, housed in a mixing station, being stricken with poison recently.

Purchasers of new cars in November and December this year will not be required to buy a part-time 1935 Ontario automobile license, it has been announced. Instead, these purchasers can buy their 1936 plates after Nov. 1 and these licenses will carry them to the end of December, 1936.

Canton Takes Action

Would Bar Small Merchants From Importing Old Newspapers

The practice of small merchants in China, who wrap purchases in old American newspapers, may be halted by a measure put before the Canton Government to curtail such importations, the Department of Commerce reports.

The extent of the practice is shown by the fact that the city of Canton alone imported over $1,000,000 worth of such old newspapers in 1934.

Chinese paper manufacturers succeeded last year in stopping the merchants from so wrapping fresh foodstuffs, the Commerce Department said, and it is now planned to prohibit the importation of old newspapers.

South Africa's 1935 maize crop is estimated at 17,941,000 bags.

Was Famous Cartoonist

Sidney Smith Creator Of The Gumps,
Killed In Automobile Accident

An automobile crash in Illinois ended the career of Sidney Smith, cartoonist-philosopher, who made "Oh Min" and "Soup's On" household phrases in many lands.

The veteran creator of "The Gumps", "Old Doc Yak" and "Ching Chow" who dropped pearls of wisdom and humor from his lips each day, was dead when they removed him from the wreckage of his car.

Smith, who was 58, ranked with Claire Briggs as probably the greatest portrayer of family life through the medium of cartoons. The daily doings of Andy and Min Gump, Little Chester and the fabulously wealthy Uncle Bim, their joys and their sorrows, have been a comic page feature for years.

More recently Smith introduced "Ching Chow," a little Oriental of few words and much wisdom. This box cartoon was made to tell readers such things as "The slave has but one master—the ambitious as many as there are people likely to be useful to him."

Smith's noted career started when he was but 18, making him one of the real oldsters of the game. The ranks of the veterans are thin, "Gus" Herri-man, artful drawer of "Krazy Kat" and Bud Fisher, creator of "Mutt and Jeff," remaining as probably the two best known among the old hands.

Among the intimate little twists Smith got out of his work was the license number 348. Long ago it appeared on Yak's auto. Then he transferred it to Andy Gump's half-pint gas buggy. Only Smith's intimates knew that 348 was the cartoonist's own motor permit number and was issued to him for many years.

Smith's attorney, E. Williams, disclosed that a few hours before the fatal journey the cartoonist had renewed his contract with the Chicago-Tribune-New York News syndicate. He said it stipulated the payment of $750,000 for a five-year period.

A native of Bloomington, Ill., Smith had been a staff member of the Chicago Tribune since 1911. He began his career as a cartoonist on the Bloomington Eye in 1895.

New Gold Discovery

Several Groups Of Claims Staked In Ontario Near Manitoba Boundary

A new gold discovery in the north-west corner of Ontario, where several groups of claims have already been staked was announced by Hon. Paul Leduc, Ontario minister of mines, who said the new area "appears a favorable one for prospecting."

David Foster, prospector for a Winnipeg group, was credited with the discovery. The area, it which quartz exposures were said to exist in three places over one 300-foot stretch, is 40 miles east of the Manitoba boundary and more than 200 miles north of the Red Lake discoveries. It surrounds the Sachigo river.

On Roof Of World

Successful Truck Gardening Is Possible At High Altitudes

Potatoes and other vegetables will grow at an altitude of over 7,200 feet in the Pamirs, "the Roof of the World," according to Professor M. Baranov, who recently conducted experiments for the Soviet Government. He declares that truck gardening is possible in the lofty mountains. The potatoes were grown from seeds, and tomato, cabbage, pepper and egg plant seeds are successfully taking root.

Huge Sum In Tips

Chimney Sweeps In Yugoslavian Town Earn Good Money

Last year the 27 municipal chimney sweeps of Zagreb, Yugoslavia, earned between them, apart from tips $130,000—almost $50,000. This is far more than many bank managers earn there. Sweeps in Zagreb are paid a monthly sum whether the chimneys need sweeping or not. They are then responsible for the cleanliness of all chimneys and for any fires due to chimneys not being properly cleaned.

It was discovered by John Audley-Charles, returned soldier and practical chemist, and Dr. J. S. Lapp, dentist.

Place Men On Farms

Alberta Government Planning To Care For Single Unemployed
Men

A plan under which from 3,000 to 4,000 single unemployed men would be placed on farms this winter is being considered by the Alberta government, Premier Aberhart stated. The plan is an extension of the farm scheme operated during the past two years. While the unemployed men would be given $5 a month as formerly, a similar sum would also be paid to the farmer.

Another suggestion is that such unemployed placed on farms under this scheme would not be required to work more than five hours a day.

Paying the way for the $5 minimum cash payment monthly to rural families in need of relief, an order-in-council has been passed by the provincial government. As a result, municipal secretaries are being circularized in order that the plan can be brought to the attention of rural authorities and the extent of the response gauged by the government.

The plan was outlined recently by Premier Aberhart who said it was not to be regarded as providing a real "basic dividend." While the minimum amount was set at $5 which would be provided by the government, the municipality would be expected to match it with $2.50. As compensation for its contribution, the municipality could require the relief recipient to give some return in work. If the size of the family justified more than the minimum, this would be provided, while as the sum increased, the municipality's share would be proportionately increased.

Select Base For Ocean Hops

Nearly Two Million Dollars Set Aside
For Air Site

A 900-acre property four miles from Sydney, N.S., has been selected as the site for a $1,750,000 North American terminus of the projected ocean air service, C. H. Clendinning, chairman of the Irish Transatlantic Air Corporation, announced recently.

Owned by the Nova Scotia government, the property has been deeded to the corporation and will be developed along the lines proposed for the eastern terminus at Londonderry, northern Ireland.

Planning the "quickest practical route" for air transportation between the Old Country and North America, the chairman said the terminus at Sydney would be leased to other corporations connecting the ocean service with Canadian and United States lines. The planes, he said, would provide accommodation for 45 persons beside facilities for handling mail.

The Dominion Department of Agriculture will again be on the air each Thursday evening during the forthcoming winter months over the coast to coast network of the Canadian Radio Commission Stations at 5:20 to 5:30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, from Montreal over the French network, from 8:20 to 8:30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time for the Maritime Provinces, Ontario, Quebec and the Prairie Provinces, and for the British Columbia network from Vancouver 9 to 9:10 p.m., Pacific Time. This season the same title for the series of talks will be used, namely, Romance and Dividends in Agriculture. Each talk will be of 10 minutes duration. The season's programme includes a variety of subjects which should be of interest to everyone.

Work Ahead Of Schedule

Thousands Of Workmen Busy On Liner Queen Mary

The London Times says the work of fitting out the Queen Mary so that she may be ready to leave Clydebank for Southampton in the early summer of 1936 is ahead of schedule. Day in and day out some 4,000 skilled workmen are busily engaged on the vessel herself, apart from the many thousands engaged on her equipment and fittings.

A walk round the base of the funnels, the circumference of which is about 100 feet, has been described as like a walk round a gasometer. They were assembled in sections in the yard and then built up on the ship.

Nearly all the machinery has now been installed. One consequence is that the giant liner is now sitting considerably lower in the water than she was at the time of the launch. Then she weighed approximately 40,000 tons, but to-day she is much nearer the 73,000 tons which will be her weight when she goes to sea.

The provision of the passenger accommodation is more advanced than may be at first apparent. The 25 public rooms will be unusually large. The first-class dining room will hold 900 passengers at one sitting, and will have a 30-foot high roof. The two large swimming pools will be resplendent in marble. The enclosed promenade deck, which measures approximately 1,250 feet in length, has been fitted throughout with hundreds of shipside windows.

The Clyde between Clydebank and the Tail of the Bank is an exceedingly narrow and winding stream, and it is probable that use will be made of two tides for the journey to the sea, although experts are confident they could take the ship downstream on one tide. The most favorable tides will probably occur about May 18, 19 or 20 next year.

Not far from the fitting-out basin there is a rocky outcrop in the river bed, but it will be blasted away before the liner starts her journey. At certain parts "corners" in the river will be straightened out. The Clyde Light-houses Trust has the preparation of the river for this momentous trip well in hand.

Canadian Premiers

Fifteen Ministries Since The Time Of Confederation

After all these weeks of discussion of Canadian affairs, how many could name the premiers since Confederation, 1867? Sir John A. MacDonald, 1866; Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, 1873; Sir John A. MacDonald, 1878; Sir John Abbott, 1891; Sir John Thompson, 1892; Sir Mackenzie Bowell, 1894; Sir Charles Tupper, 1896; Sir Wilfrid Laurier, 1896; Sir Robert Borden, 1911; Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, 1920; Rt. Hon. W. L. M. King, 1921; Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, 1926; Rt. Hon. W. L. M. King, 1926; Hon. R. B. Bennett, 1930; and now add Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, 1935. There have been fifteen ministries, two being headed by Sir Robert Borden during his tenure of office, one being Conservative and the other the Unionist War Cabinet.

A Bean For A Meal

Natural Growth Is Five Or Six Feet
In Length

One of the first Australian beans on the North American continent, grew at the rate of one inch a day in a back yard garden plot in Roseville, Mich.

The bean, produced by Louis Jeffries, a disabled war veteran, has attained the length of 31 and one-half inches and is 10 and one-half inches in circumference.

Jeffries' vegetable prodigy is one of two on a vine produced from seed sent to the veteran by a friend in New Zealand.

"The soil is different here and the climate is too cold," Jeffries remarked to questioners. "I expect each of my beans will be big enough to provide a square meal before they stop growing."

Jeffries, an electrician before the world war, has been able to work only as a watchman since he was disabled in service. He has devoted his spare time to developing unusual vegetables, fruits and hybrids in his small garden.

The Australian bean, pale green in color, grows to a length of five or six feet in its native soil. It is highly esteemed as food.

Applying For A Job

Girl Stated Qualifications But Neglected To Sign Her Name

A girl applied yesterday to Walter Lister, city editor of the Post, for a reporter's job—but was disappointed. "Are you prejudiced against women in the newspaper game?" she asked.

Mr. Lister replied: "It isn't that I'm prejudiced—but I find that most of them are careless and sloppy in their work. . . . Send me a letter, though, listing your qualifications, and I'll place it on file."

The letter arrived—a two-page note, carefully typewritten, and listing qualifications tending to offset any suggestions of carelessness.

The lady, however, forgot to sign her name!—Leonard Lyons, in New York Post.

First Woman To Swim English

Gertrude Ederle, the girl who ten years ago was the first woman to swim the English channel, can now swim only a few feet. Her back injured in a fall, she is fighting to retain the control of her legs. In addition, misfortune has dogged her in that she has become partially deaf because of all the swimming she once did, and the money she made after her channel swim has been lost on unwise investments.

The first making of brass in North America was attempted by John Winthrop, Jr., in his iron foundry at Lynn, Mass., in 1644.

PATTERN 5458

The toque is again in high favor with Dame Fashion. She well knows how easy it is to wear. And this one in crochet meets with her loud approval for all her forecasts point to crochet as an outstanding note for Fall and Winter. The toque is so simple to make and has, as chief decoration, a cable effect that is very lovely. The muff-purse—and how we all love that—repeats the design of the toque. Its shirred ruffle and fullness give it a feminine note that will add to your appearance.

In pattern 5458 you will find complete instructions for making the set shown; an illustration of it and of the stitches used; material requirements. SYNOPSIS

Nancy Nelson is a sub-deb, a gay, irresponsible girl of nineteen, with no care beyond the choice of her costume for her coming-out party. Suddenly, in the market crash, her indulgent father loses all he had, and his family is faced with the necessity of a simpler method of living. At this juncture a letter is received from an eccentric relative in Colorado, who offers the girl a home on what seems to be impossible conditions.

After much consideration Cousin Columbine's offer is accepted, and Nancy and Jack arrive at Pine Ridge.

Nancy set out one afternoon to climb to the top of a hill so as to obtain a view of the surrounding landscape and miss the path Aurora Tubbs had told her to follow. A truck comes along the road, driven by Matthew Adams, and she asks him which way to go. They ascend the hill, look around, and then go on to Cousin Columbine's. There Mark Adam tells Nancy that his brother Luke has broken his leg, and that Jack Nelson has been hired to help out while Luke's leg gets better. With Jack away, Nancy finds that she is lonesome, and having no books to read, the idea of starting a public library at Pine Ridge seems a good one, and Nancy writes home to get her parents to send all the books they could spare and all they could induce others to let them have.

Nancy's parents and friends gave their liberal support to her request for books, and a sizeable box arrived in due course. Father Adam painted a sign for the library, and the Adam boys worked on the shelves for the books and decorations to make the room look presentable.

Jack Nelson, Matthew Adams, and Nancy go to the prairie home of Matthews' uncle for the ride, and after Nancy and Jack leave for home, they are caught in a blizzard. Blinded by the swirling snow they collide with a bus full of school children, which was stalled across the road with its back wheels resting in a snow-filled gully. Their car being wrecked, Jack and Nancy stay with the children and do all they can to help. The next morning Jack sets out for help in the blizzard. He succeeds in finding help, and the party of children and Nancy are rescued. As a result of the exposure Nancy's feet are badly frozen and Jack is seriously ill with pneumonia, but both of them recover.

Now Go On With The Story

He blushed a little, and Nancy said: "I'll admit that Jack is. It took pluck to leave even the cold shelter of that bus, you know. But to make a fuss over me is—just ridiculous! I'd have been a coward to watch those kiddies freeze to death and not do everything I could. You know I would!"

There was silence a moment before Matt asked: "Do you remember the last time we sat under the old pine, Nancy? You told me then that your courage had never been tested and you wondered how you'd show up in a pinch. Well, you know now, don't you?"

"I'd forgotten that," she answered softly; then lowered her voice still more, her face flushing a little. "Matt, will you tell me something, honestly? I can't ask Cousin Columbine, she looks so worn and tired; and I've got to know. It's about my feet. These papers said I'd lose them—that my legs were frozen solid to the knees. Was that the truth?"

"Yes, that was true, Nancy. I'm never going to forget the way I felt when the nurse told me an amputation wasn't necessary. I wanted to cheer, or—cry or something. Miss Columbine did cry when I told her."

Nancy swallowed, and it struck the young man that she was still frightened.

"Is there something else you want to know, Nancy?"

"Only—only—well, Mark carried me upstairs when I came home, Matt. Are my feet really all right, or . . ."

So she'd been lying there acting cheerful and worrying about that! thought Matthew. Oh, she was wonderful!

"Of course they're all right!" he reassured her. "You could walk on them now, only the doctor said you weren't to go too fast. That's straight, Nancy. I wouldn't deceive you a time like this."

The girl sank back limply against her pillows.

"I suppose I'm a moron; but I've wanted to ask that question for days, and was too scared!" She smiled now, at her own foolishness, and added: "If all those complimentary newspaper reporters knew I was terrified at the thought of ending my days in a wheel-chair, I guess they'd be frightfully disillusioned!"

"Disillusioned!" Matt's eyes flashed with protective indignation. "Disillusioned! Why—"

"Are you plannin' to stay to dinner, Matt Adam?" called Aurora shrilly. "If so, and you're willin' to carry up three trays, you and Miss Columbine can eat with Nancy. What say?"

CHAPTER XXII.

"I am well aware, dear Cousin James," wrote Columbine Nelson on the first day of May, "how anxious you are to get your heroic young folks back; but nevertheless, I am going to ask a favor: Let them stay until Jack has time to fill out again. He looked so splendid the morning they started off for Prairie Ranch that I can't bear to send him home to you as gaunt as he is now. A few weeks of careful feeding will work wonders in his appearance; and Aurora Tubbs is itching to 'fat him up,' as she expresses it. If I may keep them until after the fourth of July they'll have a chance to see so much more of this wonderful country; and your old cousin will be far happier."

A note from Nancy added her plea: "Don't ever think that we're not crazy to see you all, but Jack is a beanpole, and Aurora's marvelous cooking ought to fix that in no time. Then too, Uncle Tom and Aunt Em want us at Prairie Ranch for a few days, just to convince us, I imagine, that the plains can be warm and friendly as well as cold and cruel. A visit there will be something to remember; and anyway, Jack refuses to go home until he's husky enough to handle a pick and shovel and can straighten up the gate posts at Cousin Columbine's driveway. They trouble him a great deal more than they do her (!); but she does want the house painted, and couldn't afford to because she paid our fares out here. Aurora told me that. I guess Uncle Jethro didn't make any great pile in Leadville; and I sha'n't accept a penny of the 'salary' she offered as bait in that comical letter. Your wandering girl will return as poor as she started out!"

"But I'm feeling wonderful now. My feet are as good as new. The library's booming; and I still get something of a kick when any one addresses me as 'Miss Aladdin.' I've not gone back on New England, Daddy; but I'll miss the library and those 'big, open spaces' we Easterners joke about. Tell Phil I'm sending him some real Indian arrow heads. . ."

Though the family at Edgemere was disappointed, this plan was obviously best for Jack, and they did not protest. The boy's strength returned more rapidly than Cousin Columbine anticipated; and by the middle of May they ventured to make some of the long-promised excursions to places not far distant enough to tire him.

"I'm sick to death of puttin' up picnic lunches," grumbled Aurora one bright May morning. "And why anybody in their senses should go to Cripple Creek when they could stay away, is somethin' entirely beyond me. Not a tree in the whole town, Nancy Nelson! Not a growin' thing lessen you count sage; and those awful prospect holes all over the hills lookin' for all the world like open graves in a cemetery. And here's Miss Columbine as excited over the trip as if she'd never seen a minin' town, let alone lived in one o' the pesky places for months on end! Jack, you're to drink every drop o' milk in this thermos bottle; and if you feel able to digest 'em, eat three bananas. They're powerful fattenin', as I ought to know if anybody does. Is it true Eve Adam's takin' a whole roast chicken? I hope for your sakes her husband had the cookin' of it. Looks like the Adams is neglectin' everything these days to take you gallavantin'. It's a wonder they stop to milk the cows."

Eve Adam laughed when Nancy repeated this caustic comment.

"But who cares, my dear? We'll make up the neglected work after you leave us; and it warms my heart to see how Miss Columbine enjoys these trips. It gives her a new lease of life to visit the old scenes and talk of those times with young folks who are really interested."

Jack thrilled over that trip to Cripple Creek; but the day they visited the scene of Marsh Pemperton's colossal hoax, stood out, a high light, in Nancy's memory. This was during the first week in June, a day with soft, white clouds drifting across the sky, and air like mid-summer. Their road led past ranches where men were ploughing immense acres; then on through mile after mile of yellow pines. Seated between Mark and Matthew in the old truck (the comfort of the new sedan being given over to the older Adams, Cousin Columbine, and Jack), Nancy caught her breath at occasional glimpses of distant mountains, some snow-rimmed.

"I'm all but speechless over this scenery," she confessed, while the boys smiled in amusement at her enthusiasm, "yet those two idiots" (with a backward glance toward Luke and Mary Taylor, seated on cushions in the rear), "are jabbering away as if there were no 'wonders to behold.' What ails them?"

"Love's young dream, lady," Mark opined as he slowed down for a thank-you-ma'am. "Luke's always been more or less what Aurora calls 'sweet' on Mary; and that girl has certainly blossomed out just lately, the result, I believe, of association with Miss Aladdin."

Nancy laughed; and Matt said solemnly: "With all due respect to Miss Aladdin, I've a notion that our kid brother is responsible for that change in Mary Taylor." He turned to view the unsuspicious couple seated below, and added: "At any rate, they're both oblivious to the scenery!"

Mark chuckled, and rounding a curve, announced: "Here's your pioneer cemetery, Nancy—the one Miss Columbine told about. Shall we view it from here, or are you determined to climb that slope in this hot sun?"

"What did we come for?" the girl responded; and as Matt sprang down she took his steadying hand and followed. "I wouldn't miss seeing this place for anything. Aren't you all coming?"

Mark shook his head. "I'm starving. I'm going to forage in the lunch box. What do you say, folks?"

This last was addressed to Luke and Mary, to whom the lunch box seemed more alluring than the cemetery. So it was with Matt alone that Nancy explored that tragic spot, looking down soberly on graves protected only by sagging fences, the marking on their wooden headboards almost obliterated—some wholly lost amid an overgrowth of weeds and bushes.

Perhaps it was the history of the place that silenced the young people. Neither spoke for a time; and then Nancy stooped, laying a spray of blossoming pink kinnikinnick on one small unmarked resting place.

"Somebody's baby," she explained, flushing a bit for fear that Matt would think her sentimental; but to her relief he added:

"And all because of one man's greed. I'd hate to be responsible for such a place, Nancy; yet when my time comes I'd rather lie in this wild tangle than in a city cemetery with a neatly mowed lawn above me, and a 'perpetual care' sign over my head."

Don't Guess But Know

Whether the "Pain"
Remedy You Use
is SAFE?

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's
Well-Being to Unknown
Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about "ASPIRIN."

He will tell you that before the discovery of "Aspirin" most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate "Aspirin" among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this.

"Aspirin" Tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

Demand and Get "ASPIRIN"

His voice was thoughtful, and with sudden inspiration the girl quoted:

"Under the wide and starry sky
Dig my grave and let me lie."

"Is that how you feel, Matt?" His eyes lighted at her intuition;

but before he could reply, Mark's laughing voice broke in upon them. "Both poetic and appropriate, young lady; but you two seem to have forgotten that we're on our way. The old folks have caught up with us, but they're too lazy to get out, and Jack's already explored this melancholy scene. There's still ten or twelve miles ahead if we're to eat our lunch on the shore of the Platte, as Miss Columbine has set her heart on doing. Have some cake?"

Matthew, who longed to strangle his brother for this intrusion, nevertheless accepted his portion with good grace; while Nancy exclaimed: "You've saved my life, Mark! I'm almost passing out. Isn't the Platte the river we read about in history—I mean the one the pioneers were always fording?"

Rise In Diamond Prices

Increase To Release More Stones
For The World Market

London's diamond kings, controllers of the world's supply, are to release for sale more uncut stones within a short time than were sold throughout the whole of the last year.

So convinced are they in England that the world has recovered enough to indulge once more in luxuries that prices are being advanced 7½ per cent., and there is confidence that all stones offered will be sold.

Altogether stones worth more than $15,000,000 will be offered to selected buyers from all parts of the world within two months. The Diamond Corporation, which has accumulated $45,000,000 worth of stones during the years of depression, has been allocated a quota in the sales. Invitations already have been dispatched to representative brokers in Amsterdam, Antwerp, Vienna, Paris, Bombay and New York.

The central selling agency of the diamond groups is in a four-storey building off Holborn. Every foreign buyer is shown into a walnut-paneled room. He is accompanied by a representative of the sellers. On a square of plain white paper on a ledge under the window is poured a little heap of graded, uncut stones. It represents a fortune.

The buyer examines the stones, makes his choice, pays his price, and departs with a tiny package as casually as if he had purchased a bag of nuts.

Biggest buyers are expected to be New York and India. U.S. jewellers' stocks are believed to be lowest since the depression. India's demand is based on "dehoarding" of gold by the princes.

Little Helps For This Week

Love is of God, and every one that loveth is born of God and knoweth God. I. John 4:7.

Forbearing one another and forgiving one another. Colossians 3:13.

Oh, might we all our lineage prove,
Give and forgive, do good and love;
By soft endearments, in kind strife,
Lightening the daily load of life.

We may if we choose make the worst of one another. Every one has his faults, every one his weak points, and we may fix our attention constantly on these. But we may also make the best of one another. We may forgive even as we hope to be forgiven. We may put ourselves in the place of others and ask ourselves what we would wish to be done to us were we in their place. By loving whatever is lovable in those around us, love will flow back from them to us and life will be a pleasure indeed instead of a pain. Earth will become like heaven and we shall not be unworthy followers of Him whose name is Love.

Birds Devour Hoppers

Thousands Of Gulls Land And Clear
The Fields

In certain parts of southern Alberta where grasshoppers were so numerous this summer vast flocks of gulls were literally covering the fields, rounding up the hoppers, and when they had concluded their attack about 75 per cent. of the insects had been devoured.

Reeve A. Schug of Rosenheim said that on a field of 60 acres a flock of gulls glided in from the south and practically covered the ground. He estimated about 50,000 on the entire field. A wave of grasshoppers could be seen travelling ahead of the birds trying to evade them as the gulls walked onward, but by the time the gulls had dined to their satisfaction some three-quarters of the hoppers were no more.

The only thing Johnny Crossland, in grade 7, could talk about was horses when members of his class in a Winnipeg school had to make speeches. And he couldn't give a proper address without a live exhibit. So into the classroom walked Johnny leading a white pony, with a saddle 'n' everything. He made a good speech, too.

Care Of Children

Lectures To Be Given In New York
To Educate Mothers

An institute to debunk the ancient myth that all mothers are good mothers was founded in New York with plans to promote its idea by lectures and clinics. The institute's program was outlined by Bernard Deutsch, president of the New York board of aldermen.

"Every walk in life, to be trod successfully, needs long and weary training," he said. "Why except motherhood? Let us debunk the ancient myth once and for all. There are good mothers, bad mothers, indifferent mothers, diligent mothers, intelligent mothers, and ignorant mothers."

By instructing women in proper care of children, the institute is to attempt improving the motherhood "ability" of its pupils.

Relief costs in Langley this year are $22,000 higher than last year according to a report brought into recent meeting of Langley municipal council. Ratio of relief recipients in Langley is five to one of the population, and the municipality has now become "the dumping ground of destitute from the prairies and other places" it was stated.

In an effort to avoid bankruptcy, Langley proposes a "round-table" discussion of the problem with the adjoining municipalities of Matsqui and Surrey in a plan to have the provincial government assume the responsibility of relief dispensation.

Observing the tenth anniversary of the founding of the organization, the local branch of the Canadian Legion is holding an anniversary dinner followed by a smoking concert, on Monday next.

An excellent and interesting programme has been arranged for the evening, including a Vancouver orchestra, which will provide music and entertainment during the evening.

Hal Rhodes, golf lecturer, is giving an address at Chilliwack next week, when golf enthusiasts of the district will have an opportunity to see, by means of slow motion pictures, the styles of top-notch golfers such as Bobby Jones and Joyce Wethered.

"An expert is quoted as saying that diamond fields richer than any in South Africa lie beneath the soil of this western country. Officials at Ottawa's Department of Mines are skeptical, so recent press reports state. However, it can do no harm to tip off our plowmen and amateur golfers to try going a little deeper.

Looking Forward

Never in the history of the country have the actions and policies of an incoming government been subjected to such close scrutiny as will be the decisions and doings of the new Mackenzie King, Liberal regime, which was returned to power with such overwhelming support from all parts of the country on October 14.

The reason for this assertion is not far to seek. Canada is apparently just emerging from a prolonged period of agricultural and world-rooted economic depression. During this period pocket books have been hard hit. Much misery has prevailed as the standard of living for a very large percentage of the population steadily declined. The cost of operation of all governments, federal, provincial and municipal have necessarily mounted to meet the demands for assistance from all classes of citizens, bringing in its train increased taxation at a time when people could ill afford it. Some of the expenditure has been met as it was incurred. Much of it has been pushed ahead for future liquidation.

As a result, all governmental units are faced with the difficult problem of operating economically so as not to bear down harder than necessary on individual resources and at the same time maintain a growing list of public services which the people have become accustomed to expect, and these conditions the governments are expected to cope with while an accumulation of indebtedness is being paid off. It looks like a herculean task.

The fact that such a large proportion of the population has felt in varying degrees the intensity of the six depression years has in itself stimulated a much greater interest in the affairs of the country, the province and the municipality than the people evinced in years of comparative plenty.

In good times the citizens are prone to take but a cursory interest in their own public affairs and usually only just around election time, but when times are hard and unfortunate conditions strike right into the home, people bestir themselves and become vociferous. And that is exactly what happened on October 14 and for many months prior to that date.

And now that the people have spoken their mind quite definitely it is safe to assume that, for a time at least, they will follow up their decision, by continuing to take a keen and watchful interest in what their representatives at Ottawa do. The interest so recently stimulated is not likely to be immediately extinguished now that the die is cast, and one of the reasons for this is the fact that even if the so-called prosperity corner has been turned, there is still a long climb ahead before the peak is reached.

For some time to come the upward struggle will be difficult. The road will be rocky in places and thorned bushes line the path. The inevitable temporary setbacks will be experienced and doubtless there will be some who will become impatient.

Whatever measures the new federal government may have in mind to smooth the highway and make the journey easier must await the necessary preliminary discussions and decisions and subsequent announcements and they must be put into operation before a final verdict as to their effectiveness can be pronounced.

It must be borne in mind that it took several years after the big avalanche of the fall of 1929 before the floor of the depression valley was reached. It is only reasonable to suppose that it will take as long, perhaps longer, to reach the summit as it required to touch bottom. Past experience has taught this lesson for those whose memories are long enough.

Canada, however, has come through this trying period in better condition than many other less fortunate nations. She has preserved her democratic institutions. The fortitude and courage of her people have proved a bulwark during the difficult period. Her financial integrity and credit have been preserved unimpaired. Her people have not starved nor frozen. Materially, she has not sustained such severe shocks as have been the lot of citizens of many of the other countries of the world.

With these assets to sustain the people in their progress towards recovery, plus such assistance as a stable government is able to give within its limitations, Canadians have every reason to look forward with hope towards the future.

And stable government, too, will be able to play an important role in the forward move to better things and improved conditions. It is true there are many who are disappointed that the political party of their choice was not successful at the polls on October 14, but even they will join the majority in expressing approval that the winning party was returned to office in sufficient strength to ensure a government that will be unhampered by the necessity of temporizing at a time when stability and a straightforward course is essential if a maximum of progress is to be enjoyed.

Even so, all eyes will be turned on Ottawa during the next few months.

To pack bees away for winter without an adequate food supply is to court disaster. It is far better says the Dominion Apiarist, to find living colonies with a surplus of food in the spring, than to discover them dead or depleted through starvation.

The Duke of Gloucester and his bride-to-be, Lady Alice Scott, will make their first home at Camberley, Surrey, 35 miles from London. Fifty-Foot Yacht Makes Safe Voyage Across The Pacific

Three months out from Yokohama, with auxiliary engines disabled three days after departure, the 50-foot schooner-rigged yacht Romance arrived at Victoria after weathering almost continuous head gales across the Pacific.

The yacht was skippered by Captain Ernest Green, former master of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia, and carried a crew of two, the skipper's 18-year-old son Philip, as engineer, and John Hunter, former Victorian, able seaman.

"I've spent 40 years at sea, part of that time on old square-riggers, but these waves seemed like huge mountains with the snow coming off," said Captain Green, telling of the worst blow on Sept. 21.

"The Romance rode them beam on with bare poles, taking them in beautiful fashion and shipping no water. But when I saw one comber coming that must have been 50 feet high, I truly thought we were done for and uttered a prayer. But we made it. Then we put on two oil bags, one at the fore rigging and the other at the main. And the effect was instantaneous; the seas calmed and we breathed easier.

"The Romance is as safe as an Empress, though it may not be as comfortable. The French government thinks so well of it that French officials in Indo-China asked the builders for specifications. With more power this type of craft would be ideal for service in those waters."

Captain Green chose the old-time sailing ship track over 40 north latitude and sighted only one craft, a Japanese vessel, on the trip from the Yokohama breakwater.

The voyage was the culmination of a lifetime ambition of a seadog who retired last year and who made the crossing many times as master of the 17,000-ton Empress of Asia until he reached the retirement age.

Diamond Mines In Canada

American Geologist Believes There Is Hidden Wealth In This Country

A geologist and an industrial diamond expert voiced the belief that beneath the soil of Canada lie diamond fields far richer than those of South Africa.

Professor A. S. Furcron, of Western Reserve University, and D. W. Carter, head of a diamond tool company, agreed that authenticated diamond discoveries in the United States support the Canadian theory.

They said the glaciers of thousands of years ago carried to this country many precious stones together with millions of tons of Canadian rocks and minerals.

Carter asserted he subscribes to a theory that northern Canada was a jungle before nature began forming gems in South Africa. "Therefore," he added, "Canada would contain far greater deposits of riches than the comparatively new dark continent."

POULTRY RAISER CONQUERS "ROUP"

Praises Minard's Liniment As Remedy For Roup or Bronchial Flu

Read in this letter from G. Minvielle, Fort Garry, how he checked Roup (Bronchial Flu) when it broke out among his young hens. "After trying other remedies and obtaining no results whatever," writes Mr. Minvielle, "I tried Minard's Liniment, five to six drops on the tongue and some times more, depending on the birds. I am positive that it helped me out a lot." Minard's Liniment is a tried and proven remedy for sprains, burns, bruises and skin diseases as well as for Bronchial and Rheumatic trouble. For sale by all druggists.

Population Of World

Estimated It Will Be Six Billion By The Year 2100

It has been estimated that if the present rate of increase continues the world will have no fewer than 6,000,000,000 people to feed, clothe and house by the year 2100—less than 170 years in the future. The number mentioned is regarded as about as many as the old earth can comfortably cater for unless its soil is taught to yield more bountiful crops than it does at present. To-day the world population is only about 1,900,000,000.

Lastex Fabrics Useful

Has Lately Been Used Extensively For Women's Garments

Lastex fabrics have played an increasingly important role during the past few years and promise to be popular materials for fall and winter wear.

Being impervious to water, Lastex made invaluable bathing suits for the summer, and likewise will go into the smart ensembles for shooting, golf, skiing and skating. Special tweeds woven with Lastex have been used for these sport suits with specially reinforced bands at the wrists and ankles of ski suits to keep out the snow. There are leather skiing gauntlets which fit closely at the wrist with jersey Lastex bands.

Lastex has been used extensively for women's underwear in tulle and laces as well as jersey. These garments have all the advantages of the strongest elastics without any of the disadvantages of old-fashioned corsets and girdles. Lightweight materials control the curves and can be laundered easily without losing any of their qualities. For large women, girdles and corsets are made of Lastex combined with a satin which has been reinforced by Lastex to keep the figure firm.

This same wonderful material is used in attractive weaves by upholsterers who have discovered that it is particularly practical for springy seats which were formerly covered by loosely cut plain fabrics to give play to the springs.

New Engineering Marvel

Installed The Longest Escalators In The World

After five years burrowing and boring and propping, encasing, and otherwise safeguarding numerous overhead public services, the London Transport Board, as successors to the tube authorities, were able to open recently the new Leicester-Square Station. In many ways the achievement is an engineering marvel. Many difficulties had to be encountered which were unexpected. The work was carried on in a confined area underneath the busy traffic junction of Cranbourn-street and Charing Cross-road. Through one moderate-sized hole in the roadway thousands of tons of materials had to pass. The contractors used a million bricks, 7,000 tons of cement, and 1,350 tons of steel, and they excavated 34,000 cubic yards of clay. A circular book-binding-hall with shops and showcases like those at Piccadilly, all artistically treated and with soft diffused lights, is a handsome feature of the building. There are five stairway entrances from the street, and three of the escalators are 161 feet long—the longest in the world—and capable of a speed of 180 feet per minute.

Man Flies Under Own Power

Drifts Two Miles Into Wind Before Opening His 'Chute

A parachute jumper of New Jersey is the latest man to fly under his own power. With curious bat-like wings attached to his arms, he stepped out of an aeroplane at 8,000 feet, rode into the wind like a bird, and drifted two miles before he opened his parachute at 3,000 feet. The daring parachutist reported that he had been able to execute a "barrel roll" and one or two other flying tricks at the beginning of his drop. He has a strip of canvas, about three feet square, sewn between the legs of his jumpers. This, he says, enables him to change direction and execute stunts by kicking his legs and holding them at varying angles. After his parachute opened he landed unhurt in a tree. The theory that a man will be able to fly without the aid of a parachute is just a lot of hooey," he said. He added that as far as he knew his experiment had no practical value. It was just a good stunt. Previously, in February of this year, Mr. Clem Sohn, a 22-year-old parachute jumper, was reported to have flown under his own power at Daytona Beach, after dropping from an aeroplane at a height of 12,000 feet.

The World Rulers

Author Thinks 200 Men Are Masters Of Human Conscience

A thesis that five men "master the consciences of the mass of humanity" and that the world is "managed or mismanaged" by about 200 out of a population of more than 2,000,000,000, is presented by "the Unofficial Observer" in a book published in New York.

In a volume entitled "Our Lords and Masters," the anonymous author asserts that "of these 10 score potentates, barely 25 men rank as world rulers in their own right."

In the sphere of social behavior the five he lists as masters of human conscience are: King George V., Pope Pius XI., Leon Trotsky, the Emperor of Japan and Mahatma Gandhi.

Among the more mundane political potentates he lists as the eight outstanding world rulers: Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin and Sir Samuel Hoare, of Great Britain; Andre Tardieu of France; Joseph Stalin of the Soviet Union; Benito Mussolini of Italy; Adolf Hitler of Germany; President Roosevelt of the United States and Mustapha Kemal Ataturk of Turkey.

Horseshoe Pitching

Americans Discard All Else To Play Barnyard Golf

Horseshoe pitching, better known as barnyard golf, is becoming almost as popular as bridge around Boston, Mass. Vacant lots have been turned into playing rinks and short tracts of land adjacent homes have been given over to the game, where the clanging of the irons is heard for hours at a time.

Women are becoming fascinated and many leagues have been formed, teams vying for honors with a competitive spirit that is almost amazing.

Any weight you may lose by excessive perspiration is shortly restored to your body when you drink water, tea, coffee, etc.

Cold Winter Predictions Analyzed By Experts Who Make Study Of Weather

Will the coming winter be colder or will it be warmer than the average of winters?

A study of winter temperatures beginning with that of 1829, and covering New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore, does not afford an answer to the question. It presents an interesting fact, however—namely, that the average of the first twenty years of the period is nearly three degrees lower than that of the last twenty years, 32.6 degrees in comparison with 35.2 degrees. One cannot base a conclusion from this instance, but it is in line with broader and more extensive observations. It offers no clue to what we may expect in the winter now ahead. Forecasts in the case are uncertain of verification, writes Jacques W. Redway in New York Sun.

Popular traditions offset a warm summer with a cold winter to follow. Sometimes it happens that way, it is true, but if the mean temperature of the year is below the average both summer and winter usually are cold—and that, too, has exceptions.

Where there are no air movements and neither cloud nor dust to intercept the sun's rays the temperature of the air would vary with the number of daylight hours and the altitude of the sun above the horizon. Our winters would be cold for two causes—namely, the lack of sunshine and the low altitude of the sun, whose rays lose much of their effect as they fall aslant upon the earth.

But other factors are to be considered. The air is ever in motion and cold waves from arctic regions sweep southward into temperate regions. When more than the average number visit us winter temperature may fall below the average. Cold waves are of short duration, however, and a cold winter from that cause is rarely much below the average.

A cold year is another matter. It is a steady and progressive lowering of temperature over a great part of the earth. In 100 years of record in New York City, including sixty years of Weather Bureau, there have been six years in which the winter temperatures have been bitterly cold. The coldest of record, 27.5 degrees, occurred in 1835-36, when the mean temperature was nearly five degrees below the normal winter temperature. It was also a record cold winter in Philadelphia, the mean being the same as that of New York City.

The winter of 1885—and also the year—was also very cold, and a reason therefore was discovered. In 1884, Krakatao, a volcano in Sunda Strait, belched several hundred million tons of dust into the upper air. The resulting haze was so dense that the sun shone red in midday hours and blood red when at the horizon. The dust blanket was so dense that it intercepted a measurable degree of heat, causing a cold spell that continued for more than a year. There was no question about the character of the dust. Examined by scores of expert microscopists, it was found to consist of lava blasted into fine dust by the volcanic explosion; shot twenty miles into the upper air, it spread into a broad belt that girdled the earth. Dust below cloud height is quickly brought to earth by rain or by snow; above cloud height it falls by its own gravity and falls so slowly that the rate is hardly measurable.

The study of the dust blanket of Krakatao has made plain the cause of other severely cold years, both winter and summer. The "dry fog" in 1783, described by Benjamin Franklin; and that of the summerless year of 1816, which required a chapter of explanation in Thompson's "History of Vermont," was a volcanic dust blanket.

Will our coming winter be cold? In accordance with popular tradition it should follow a summer that has been rather warm. It may be cold—and it may not be. The five winters preceding that of 1933-34 were all warm, one being a fraction of a degree above normal temperature. Last winter was cold—nearly five degrees below the average of twenty years. To anticipate a cold winter would not be unreasonable, but a positive forecast would not be reasonable. There has not been a volcanic eruption of the kind that shoots dust clouds into the air, and there is nothing to show that the earth has been radiating more heat than it has received. When March 22, 1936, comes to us the weather sharps who base their forecasts on goose-foot callosities will shoot "I told you so."

Seigneurs To Lose Rights

Quebec Municipalities May Be Permitted To Purchase Clear Titles

Seigniorial rights—last vestige of the ancient feudal system on this continent—are fast disappearing from Quebec with the appointment by the Quebec government of a rights purchasing commission under the Seigniorial Rights Abolition Act.

Introduced during the 17th century when eastern Canada was New France, seigniorial rights were granted to certain settlers as a colonization measure, entitling them to collect dues from farmers who took up land on their estates. In return, the seigneur agreed to use all his efforts to encourage settlement and clearing of the land. The farmers gathered at the seigneur's home on a certain day each year to pay their dues, known as cens et rentes.

Under the French regime 225 seigneuries were established, of which 190 still exist. Three hundred years ago the seigneur would accept a few cents in cash and the remainder of the dues in farm products such as wheat, fowl and vegetables. The present-day seigneur, however, demands the entire sum in cash and the habitant often finds it difficult to pay. Numerous complaints have led the government to take steps to abolish the tenure.

The project the commission is studying is one by which the various rural municipalities would be entitled to buy out all seigniorial rights from the seigneurs, spreading the instalments over a period of 20 or more years.

Feeding Harvest Hands

Typical Country Experience When The Threshing Crew Come To Dinner

Not long ago a Kansas girl said she had never seen harvest hands sit down to eat. It is too bad that anyone should miss this typical country experience, but, after all, unless you had cooked the dinner yourself the full flavor of the occasion would be missing. You should get up early in the morning and bake four pies, two apple and two cream, while the men are milking. After breakfast you peel a dishpan of potatoes, chop up two heads of cabbage, and prepare the other vegetables in like amount, all the time fluttering to the stove to stick a fork in the roast and wondering if you put it on early enough.

You bring out all the extra table leaves, which take two table cloths to cover, you make ice tea or coffee—and on hot days men prefer the former—stir up a gallon of gravy, and hope you'll be ready when they quit. And then they come, talking loudly and laughing and joking as they take the wash pan and four clean towels to the well to wash up. And if you can see them come, dirty and dusty and shedding chaff, and still feel friendly, you have the true spirit of harvest time. But if you are resentful of their presence and grudging of your work, the pleasure of feeding a threshing crew is something you will never know.—Flint Hills Peggy, in Cottonwood Falls Leader.

Many Will Agree

Somerset Maugham Dislikes Getting Up In The Morning

"I forget who it was," writes Somerset Maugham, "that recommended men for their soul's good to do each day two things they disliked; it was a wise man, and it is a precept that I have followed scrupulously; for every day I have got up and I have gone to bed." Although going to bed requires decision and is therefore unnatural, it is not a heroic act like getting up. The day includes twenty-four hours, with noon tossed in as a halfway mark between mere sloth and absolute abandon, but none of the hours is late enough to make getting up easy. Although thousands—perhaps millions—of people get up promptly every morning without complaint, they are simply creatures of habit or necessity. "Oh, how I hate to get up in the morning," the old army ballad says. "It's nice to get up in the morning," Harry Lauder used to sing, "but it's nicer to lie in bed." It certainly is. Getting up cannot compare with lying in bed.—New York Times.

Although the king of England may refuse to approve any act passed by parliament, there is no record of any such action having been taken within the past 200 years. 2122

Nazis Busy With Uniforms

Warehouse And Business Block Financed By Nazi Party Funds

A vast official "arsenal," covering two city blocks, for storing Nazi uniforms and accoutrement, is being completed at Munich.

Keeping the Nazi in regulation brown uniform—with his "dagger of honor" swinging at his side—has now become a major industry in the third reich.

This new business remains firmly in party hands. The huge warehouse and business block is financed entirely by Nazi party funds.

Prices of all pieces of uniform are dictated by party chiefs and profits go into the party treasury.

The new buildings, officially entitled "The National Ordnance Department," are four storeys high, built of steel and cement and include a garage for 59 high-power trucks.

Business is brisk as each Nazi party branch—storm troops, Black guards, party officers and Hitler Youth, et al—has his own individual paraphernalia. They are all minutely prescribed by the party ordinance chief, down to the size and shape of tent-stakes, which are made of metal.

A full Nazi uniform, cheapest quality, including pack, boots, canteen, etc., can be obtained for about $25.

Wireless direction finders for ships are being installed along the South African coast.

Token Of Goodwill

Winnipeg Receives Quarter Ton Of Raisins From Australia

A quarter of a ton of raisins was presented to the city of Winnipeg recently. The presentation was made to Mayor John Queen by L. R. MacGregor, Australian trade commissioner in Canada, as the mayor opened a local Australian exhibition. The raisins are to be distributed among the public institutions of the city, among those on relief, or among the poor, Mr. MacGregor said. The gift was being made as a mark of appreciation of Canadian goodwill towards Australia.

The Value Of Paper

Few People Realize What It Means To The World

Arthur Pond in Atlantic Monthly says lacking paper, history would be almost a blank; geography still a fable; poetry a harpist's song by the fireside; trade a matter of simple barter, and the productive arts still under rule of thumb. Each generation, instructed only by the word of mouth by elders schooled through crude experience, would have had to repeat in its own time, the errors of its forefathers, and all human knowledge would have been at the mercy of precarious memory.

Fifteen girl students of India recently toured Europe.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

IT'S FOOTBALL TIME

Enlargements of long distance shots will often bring out the "action" detail of a football play (left). A shot from the side lines (right).

Hold that line! Hold that line! Yes, football season is with us again with its excited yelling crowds, raccoon coats and joyous celebrations by supporters of the winning team.

What a paradise for the snapshotter! He who goes to the game without his camera is missing a golden opportunity. Pictures of the game, the crowds in the grandstands and informal shots of his classmates and friends will furnish him many hours of pleasure year after year as he looks back through his snapshot album.

There are countless opportunities for interesting, story-telling pictures at football games. All you have to do is use a little imagination. When you are blocked in the traffic and remark to the girl friend, "Gee, look at that line-up of cars and the crowd at the game," don't stop with that—take a snapshot. Don't be satisfied with stepping out of the car and just snapping a straight line of cars. Stand on the bumper and shoot down on the traffic and crowds. The results will be much more pleasing than the ordinary, conventional view.

The period before the start of the game offers further opportunities for unusual snapshots. For instance, take a picture from the top of the grandstand steps showing the crowds coming up the steps to their seats. A shutter speed of 1/50 of a second will stop the motion of the people as they walk directly toward your camera.

Stand on your seat and take a full view picture of the crowds in the grandstand and as you do this you may see some of your friends seated nearby. Attract their attention and as they wave with a cheery, "Hey, Bill," you can snap another interesting, story-telling picture. Even a chance, "blind" shot over your shoulder may bring unusual and pleasing results.

See to-day that your camera is ready for action, load it with film and leave for the game determined to get the kind of pictures you will be proud to show your friends.

JOHN VAN GUILDER.

Increasing The Use Of Agricultural Products In The Automotive Industry

Ninety-three million honey bees are on the pay roll of one of the largest makers of American automobiles—$3,000,000 buzzing, busy bees turning out beeswax, which is used for various purposes in the automotive industry.

Besides, writes Malcolm McDowell in the Chicago Daily News, the same motor maker employs 800,000 sheep, 87,000 goats, 10,000 cattle and 20,000 hogs, which contribute raw materials available in his factories.

When to all these industrialized creatures are added 112,000,000 feet of lumber, 2,400,000 pounds of linseed oil, 500,000 bushels of corn, 341,000 pounds of castor oil, 2,500,000 gallons of molasses, 69,000,000 pounds of cotton, 1,800,000 pounds of soybeans, 2,000,000 pounds of turpentine and 728,000 gallons of tung oil you get some idea of what American farms supply, in one year, for just one make of automobiles and that without considering the agricultural products of like nature and other automobile manufacturers use annually.

Increasing the use of agricultural products in the automotive industry is one of the major purposes of the program of the Farm Chemurgic Council. In forwarding this purpose a number of investigations by industrial chemists, under the general supervision of the research section of the council, will be carried on to develop new sources of raw material to be contributed by farmers and which can be made available in the automotive industry.

It follows, say chemists, that if bee hives are supplying material usable by automobile makers, they can do the same for other industries. Consequently, it is safe to venture the prediction that the busy bee will not escape the scientific curiosity of the research chemists, seeing that 93,000,000 bees are now working for one auto concern.

Contact already has been made by the Farm Chemurgic Council with the American Honey Institute of Madison, Wis. The institute has contributed much interesting and informative data concerning bees and their products. The following is gleaned from the material supplied by the American Honey Institute.

Besides its general and longtime use as human food, honey, industrially, is utilized in many products. It may be found in the centre of golf balls; it is a medium for curing tobacco pipes; it is an astringent in certain types of cosmetics; gems are boiled in honey to enhance their beauty; it is an important ingredient in tooth pastes; it is used as a polish for kid shoes; it enters into a water-proofing for leather and is available for many other industrial purposes. Beeswax has numerous uses in the arts and trades and it is made of honey by the bees. Eight to ten pounds of honey are consumed by the bees to produce a single pound of beeswax.

The sweet sought by bees in flowers is not honey; it is similar to sweetened water and is called nectar. Honey is the nectar of flowers; evaporated and modified by the bees. Actual weighings have shown that it takes 20,000 bees to bring to the hive one pound of nectar, which will make about a quarter of a pound of honey.

So it would require the full time of 80,000 bees to bring in enough nectar to make a pound of honey and 80,000 more bees must turn themselves into ventilators by buzzing their wings inside the hive to produce the air currents to evaporate the water from the nectar. Thus 160,000 bees must work to store up a pound of honey in their hive. Small wonder, then, that the automobile maker has put 93,000,000 bees on his pay roll.

Industrial chemists do not believe that honey and its main by-product, beeswax, ever will enter largely into the industries; they have regarded bee hives as the special responsibilities of agricultural chemists. Nevertheless, when they check up the thousands of surprising discoveries made in the research laboratories by chemists investigating the industrial possibilities of corn, artichokes, potatoes, hemp, eggs, fruits, weeds, and other farm products they believe that honey, chemically known as a monosaccharide and which is much the same sugar that is found in most fruits offers a promising field for industrial research.

It contains, besides levulose, said to be the sweetest of sugars, and dextrose, mineral elements such as iron, lime, sodium, magnesium and phosphoric acid.

It would not be surprising if the chemical investigator would discover in honey a medicine as yet of unknown properties, productive of wonderful effects.

That the bees will be subjected to a most exhaustive investigation in the laboratory of a research chemist seems to be certain. The fact findings of the investigator may lead to a much greater appreciation of its importance in the industrial and economic fields than now is apparent.

Thought Pictures

Use Scientific Instruments To Show Thoughts On A Screen

The latest triumph of scientific cinematography, is the taking of film pictures of a man's thoughts. The experiment was carried out at the Moscow Institute of the Brain. It has been known for some time that the brain in the process of thinking, generates minute electrical currents. Several preliminary experiments were, therefore, carried out on animals, recording their responses to such outside influences as light, heat, and cold. The latest experiments have been on human beings. The patient sits facing the movie camera and two minute needles are pressed into the bone of the temples. These are connected to wires which conduct the electric currents set up by the brain in action to a transformer. Here the impulses are magnified one thousand times and are made to actuate a hand on a dial. A slowly-moving film photographs the movements recorded on the dial. When the brain is at rest the fluctuations are small and regular and appear on the film as a perfectly even saw edge, but as soon as a question is fired at the patient the mental stimulus engendered by thinking sends the needle on the dial flash back and forth and the film records rugged ranges of peaks and valleys, finally settling down into a straight line as the patient co-ordinates his thoughts and prepares to answer. The device is intended for use in the cure of mental ailments; when it is possible to classify by comparison with normal thought records, the abnormal brain processes of a mentally deranged person, doctors will more readily be able to apply corrective measures to unruly thoughts.

Timothy Seed Prices

Large Production This Year Has Depressed Prices

Recently the Markets Division of the Seed Branch, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, released a timothy seed crop report which indicates an abnormally large production of this seed in Canada in 1935. It would appear that there may be about eleven million pounds of seed available for commerce as against five million pounds in 1934 and an annual consumption in recent years of approximately seven million pounds. Owing to the surplus in sight, Canada is now for the first time in history on an export price basis in respect to this seed. In past years prices at Chicago plus freight and import charges were the basis of value in Canada, whereas this year, domestic prices may be based on Chicago quotations less freight and export charges. As a result of this changed situation prices are now very low. At this time last year timothy seed was selling in Canada at fifteen to twenty cents per pound as against three to four and a half cents per pound at the present time. Surplus production this year resulted from two main factors, i.e., the high prices of last year which stimulated production and the abnormally large hay crop which permitted farmers generally to leave fields for seed rather than cut for hay.

British Admiral Presented Picture Apparatus To Lepers Hospital

When Admiral Sir William Fisher, Commander-in-Chief of the British Mediterranean fleet and an enthusiastic film fan, was told during his recent visit to Malta that the lepers never went to the movies because they were forbidden to leave their camp he presented a talking picture apparatus to the hospital. One of the first pictures shown was of the Jubilee in London. The lepers have placed a life-size portrait of Admiral Fisher in the hospital.

Practical Health Talk

Common-sense advice upon preservation of school children's health was given by Dr. G. Amyot of North Vancouver before small, but interested groups in Poplar, Matsqui and Abbotsford last Wednesday.

Need of adequate rest, wholesome foods, control of communicable disease, sound teeth and personal hygiene were each urged in simple terms made more acceptable by the speaker's spontaneous wit. He cited the case of the class-weary child after late hours in picture shows, little 'Johnny' whose slight symptoms of chicken-pox did not occasion his quarantine, but resulted in spreading the disease to 30 other children in North Vancouver, and the fallacy of wasting money upon expensive foods when milk and cereals in natural form are so cheap and nutritious.

Vaccination for smallpox was not painful or dangerous, Dr. Amyot stated, adding that he himself had frequently submitted to serum inoculations as a demonstration to children. The value of such treatment in diphtheria and fevers was invaluable he added. Disease can be contracted as easily in God's house as in the school house, and disease-prevention as good good health, is usually a matter of exercising common-sense. The combination of schools supervisor and school nurse in Abbotsford, Sumas, Matsqui was a progressive step in the improvement of local conditions, Dr. Amyot said in predicting its success.

The meetings were arranged by P. H. Sheffield, school trustee. G. F. Pratt occupied the chair.
